

Pythagorean Cabaret

Engineer and science broadcaster Rhys Phillips hosts an evening of scientific entertainment – a night of comedy, music, magic and other art forms used to present scientific and engineering themes and ideas.

Expect mathematical proof that today's pop musicians are lazy, mind reading demonstrations and Bohemian Rhapsody as you've never heard it performed before!

Suitable for ages 14 years plus. Cost £5 a ticket

Contact: Stephen Powley spowley@theiet.org

Date & Time: Monday 3 November 2014 at 19:00 - 22:00

Venue: Guildhall Theatre, Market Place, Derby DE1 3AH

Registration: <http://bit.ly/derby-pythagorean-cabaret> www.theiet.org/communities