How can we engineer a Circular Economy?

Prof David Greenfield
Managing Director; Social, Environmental & Economic Solutions (SOENECS) Ltd
Managing Director; TechTakeback
Founding Partner and Urban Miner; etsaW Ventures Ltd

Prof David Greenfield, SONECS and MD of Tech-Takeback, a Brighton and Hove based not for profit electricals reuse company, will explore the circular economy, the role engineers have in creating a circular economy and how what practical examples are currently being introduced, including Tech-Takeback.

Prepare to understand the role of materials, supply chain and whole life understanding when it comes designing a solution that will help us find solutions to reduce the impact of climate change, whilst moving to a regenerative society.
